After J Estanislao Lopez

The Exxon Mobil bathroom where I got my first period. The Mariana Trench. What my mother wanted for my life vs what I made of it. Where the polar bear devours her dinner. Pandora's Box. My stepdad's funeral that never happened. Where memory fractures. Saturn's innermost ring. The drunk tank. Two million wildebeest migrating across the Serengeti. The predictable metaphor. My secret mushroom foraging spot on Canada's wildest shoreline. The log cabin my grandfather built with his hands. Every religion's unique version of heaven. Every religion's unique version of hell. The nameless highway that connects them.
